To

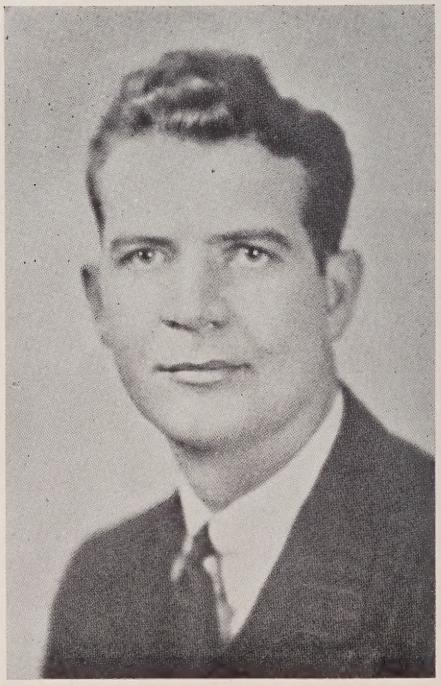
William F. Hodgkinson

The class of nineteen forty-two wishes to express its sincere gratitude and appreciation for the guidance and friendship he extended to all members. We regret that he could not be with us the last few months. With sincere thanks, we dedicate this edition of the Barnacle.

Acknowledgements

The Class of 1942 expresses its sincere gratitude to Mr. Frederick M. Hodge for his patience and friendly guidance throughout high school days.

Likewise, to William Leo Shields, the graduating class extends its heartiest thanks for his untiring work in guiding it over the last shoal in the high school journey.



Class Song

Barnstable, Barnstable, now we sing to you
Of happy days our high school years
We leave with fond a-dieu.
Barnstable, Barnstable, this we know is true,
Our friendly song, our classmates cheer
Have strength because of you.
We've work'd with you,
We've play'd with you,
With courage ever new.
Tho' book and game may bring us fame,
We've gather'd hope from you.
Barnstable, Barnstable, now we sing a-dieu,
In praise of you,
Good wishes true,
The Class of Forty-two.

Class History

BECAUSE of war conditions, the future of our class is uncertain; but the memories of past years are still vivid in our minds; and, if the future years prove hard, these last, the happiest in our lives, will certainly help to tide us over the shoals.

In September, 1936, one hundred and fifty-seven of us bombarded Barnstable High and immediately became engulfed in the crowd and lost in the maze of corridors. It took us some time to appreciate our principal, Mr. Knight, and our other teachers, but still more time to realize, through sad experience, that rules are made to be obeyed.

We returned in 1937 with only one hundred and forty-six members, but we made up for their loss by renewed enthusiasm and did our bit in the magazine campaign to raise funds for a motion picture projector. Although Mr. Horgan and Mr. Vendt joined the faculty ranks this year, we were more affected by the arrival of Mr. Jordan and Mr. Hodgkinson, since they were to try and infuse mathematics and science into our "intelligent" class.

When 1938 rolled around, we now felt proud; for were we not freshmen? Our conception of a freshman's importance was soon changed, however, by the upperclassmen. Once again we were mere "small fry." After a few weeks, we were very much aware that Miss Noble, Miss Brink, Miss Murphy (Mrs. Linehan), and Mr. Shields had joined our faculty. A few of our members also began to enjoy the new Vocational Boat Building and Boat Operation Course which was started that year.

Although only a few of our class participated in the exchange joint concerts with Pawtucket High School or in the festival which our band attended in Burlington, Vermont, we joined in the excitement, nevertheless, and were proud when the band won a high rating at this festival. Some of us, however, entered into the other activities of the school: Doris Prada, Allen Dranetz, Margaret Reid, Martha Ojala, Carol Crocker, and Bernard Malchman on the "Clipper"; and Margaret Reid, Natalie Pedro, Mildred Syriala, Eugenia Staffen, Isabel Thomas, Mary Phillips, and Martha Ojala representing us in the school orchestra.

In 1939, when we returned to school, we became truly organized as a class and elected Joseph Lebel, president; Clifton Linnell, vice-president; Eugenia Staffen, secretary; and Mildred Syriala, treasurer. Because of the change of principals from Mr. Knight, who now became our superintendent, to Mr. Hodge, and the addition of a new wing to the school building, we had little chance for any social activities; nevertheless, our class was again well represented in the "Clipper" by Carol Crocker, Eugenia Staffen, Elenore Klimm, Daniel Knott, Charlotte Savage, and Bernard Malchman joining Doris Prada. Dan Knott became a member of the football team; and Olive Rodin and Drusilla Daniel won places on the hockey team this year. Several, in addition, turned out for the other sport squads. When the time came to elect members to the student council, Dan Knott and Drusilla Daniel were chosen to fill the positions.

We started off in our Junior year to make up for the time that we had been deprived of in the previous year and elected Dan Knott, president; Clifton Linnell, vice-president; Drusilla Daniel, secretary; and Elenore Klimm, treasurer. When Clifton Linnell left school, Stuart Lagergren was elected to take his place; moreover, he was also elected to join the Student Council.

Our class play, "One Mad Night," under the direction of Miss Banning, was well worth the time and energy that she and the cast put into it. Allen Dranetz, Margie Winnell, Wilfred Powell, and Elenore Klimm certainly acted as well as, if not better than, other juniors had in previous years.

Mildred Syriala, Virginia Dunham, and Jane Miller upheld the honor of our class successfully in the New England Music Festival at New London, Connecticut. Joseph Lebel and Marshall Dranetz — with Alice Slavin, Harold Malchman, and Joseph James — certainly distinguished themselves; for they not only won at the state Forensic League contest, but they also performed creditably at the National Forensic League Contest at Lexington, Kentucky. (In more than one way — hey, fellows?)

Although the boys were not very active in athletics, Joe Lebel made the basketball team and Jack Levine and Robert Blackburn were on the baseball team. The girls, on the other hand, were very athletic-minded: Gloria Johnson, Drusilla Daniel, Helen Renkainen, Virginia Dunham, Mary Karras, Marjorie Hinckley, Jane McKeon, Evelyn Wirtanen, Phyllis Ward, Elise Willman, and Doris Nelson being on the hockey team; and Olive Rodin, Drusilla Daniel, Helen Nelson, and Mildred Syriala, on the basketball team.

The "Clipper," under the editorship of Eugenia Staffen and with the help of Marshall Dranetz, Charlotte Savage, Carol Crocker, Wilfred Powell, Elenore Klimm, Dan Knott, and Bernard Malchman, received second prize among entries from schools the size of ours in a nation-wide contest sponsored by the Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University. The typing staff of the "Clipper," composed of Inez Aittaniemi, Elizabeth Perry, Thelma Sherburne, Edytha Bearse, Helen Wyman, Joseph Maxwell, Elsa Dahlberg, Helen Johnson, Elise Willman, and Margie Winnell, also deserve credit for their fine work.

The climax of our Junior year was the prom, the success of which was due to the co-operation of the entire class, but especially to the efforts of Stephen Bartlett, chairman of the prom committee; Wilfred Powell, chairman of the ticket committee; and Barbara Dodge, chairman of the committee for publicity and advertisements no less than to the military setting which added greatly to the enjoyment of all.

Now at last we are high and mighty seniors, a hundred and fourteen of us. After much controversy and campaigning we elected Joseph Lebel, president; Dan Knott, vice-president; Olive Rodin, secretary; and Elenore Klimm, treasurer.

The boys became a little more enthusiastic about sports this year. Jack Levine, Stuart Lagergren, Walcott Ames, Dan Knott, Allen Dranetz, Joe Lebel, and Keith Rapp were on the football team. Joe Lebel and Jack Levine also represented us in basketball. This Jack Levine is a mighty fellow: along with Robert Blackburn, he also had to uphold the honor of the senior class in baseball. The energy of the girls this year knew no bounds. Olive Rodin, Helen Renkainen, Drusilla Daniel, Virginia Dunham, Mary Karras, Marjorie Hinckley, Jane McKeon, Evelyn Wirtanen, Phyllis Ward, Gloria Johnson, and Elise Willman on the hockey squad came through a successful season under Coach Nehubian with only one defeat. In basketball, also; Olive Rodin, Drusilla Daniel, Helen Nelson, Mildred Syriala, Marjorie Hinckley, and Mary Karras came through the season with only one defeat.

In the fall while we were getting used to our new teachers, Miss Coffman, Miss Frisone, Miss Buckley, and Mr. Rogean and to the absence of Miss Banning, we elected Eugenia Staffen to the Student Council. Keith Rapp was also chosen to the Student Council later in the year when Stuart Lagergren left school.

The war hit us here, and how! Just after we finished giving a farewell dance to Stuart Lagergren, Walcott Ames, James Chute, Francis Brogan, Eldon Logan, and Bernard Malchman, who joined the armed forces, we had to learn to do without Mr. Jordan, Mr. Taft, and most particularly Mr. Hodgkinson, who had helped and struggled with us for three years.

While we were laboring in school, Mildred Syriala, Mary Phillips, Barbara Clubb, Virginia Dunham, and Barbara Harris were fleeing far away to Keene, New Hampshire, where they attended the New England Music Festival.

This year, for the first time, Barnstable played host to the participants in the State Forensic League Contest. Due to the able guidance of Mr. Broadbent and Miss Coffman, everything went off comparatively smoothly. Will miracles never cease? The debating team, comprised of Marshall Dranetz, Joseph Lebel, Harold Malchman, and Robert Benjamin, won the state championship again; but, due to present conditions, they were unable to go on to the national contest.

Our class play, "She Stoops to Conquer," was surely a success; but, what play, directed by Mr. Cheever and supported by such a cast as Dan Knott, Marshall Dranetz, Billy Powell, Allen Dranetz, Elenore Klimm, Jacqueline Gill, and Charlotte Savage, wouldn't be a success?

Our class history would not be complete without thanking all our teachers for the patience and help that they have given us. We desire especially to thank Mr. Cheever and Miss Hinkle for the extra kindnesses and the work that they have done for us. Although we have not been a "brainy" class, we have had a good time and are looking forward with regret as well as expectation to June tenth when we shall receive those coveted diplomas.

HOCKEY

This year's girls' hockey team came through the entire season with only one defeat. This fine record was due not only to the co-operation of the captain, team, and coach, but also to the spirit of the entire squad. The scores of the games clearly show that the results were the outcome of practise and team play, not luck.
